Upgrades at YRM

We have spent the last week working on upgrades for various ministry operations. The first of which is our live video streaming service. Many of you who watch YRM every week via the "Truth Channel" will notice a different name and interface on your next visit. Because of the frequent commercials and their content, we have been forced to change our broadcast interface. As many of you know our former broadcaster, Livestream, wanted $350 a month to remove the commercials. We simply could not justify such a steep reoccurring monthly payment. The mission was to find an affordable broadcaster that offered the same features as Livestream, mainly a steady broadcast stream with the chat option (that many of you are so accustomed to) and the ability to upload content for 24/7 loopable broadcasting. After extensive searching and testing we are very pleased to announce we have found just that with Tikilive. We have made all the necessary changes online and you should now continue to receive the same great features as before--all commercial-free. Note: What was formally called "The Truth Channel" is now "The YRM Channel." <http://www.yrm.org/yrmchannel.htm> If you would like to contribute towards this $50 a month reoccurring payment (note: we were forced to upgrade to the $200 a month plan because so many people are now tuning in), you can use the general ministry donation button at: <http://www.yrm.org/ministrysupport.htm> Tikilive automatically withdraws from this account.

Backup Issue Is Back up

After another recent data loss scare last week we looked into a more reliable data backup system for our office computers. Years of work is now backed up on our new PC based Drobo backup system. With the ability to hold up to 16 terabytes of information our new system should last us for many years to come and has eliminated much anxiety.

Poised to Make Major Leap

You may notice that YRM tries to stay ahead of the loop online as well as with print and electronic media. We are also looking to upgrade and mastering the latest publishing, photo and Web software. Computer savvy tells us that you either upgrade or you ultimately will die a techno death, unable to run the latest anything. We are hoping to upgrade much of our production software for desktop publishing, Web publishing and video production with a new "suite" of professional software. Much of the software we are using is a few versions behind and to continue to stay current both for features and compatibility we will need to make some upgrades soon. With our nonprofit status we can take advantage of a deal that would allow us to upgrade our current programs and add several new programs in a suite package for $1000. Contributions for this necessary upgrade are very welcomed.

Feast of Tabernacles Reservations Flowing In Nearly daily we receive reservations or inquiries about this year's Feast of Tabernacles in southwest Indiana. If you did not receive a reservation form in the mail or if you misplaced yours, you can download one here. We look forward to seeing you there for a most enjoyable, inspiring Tabernacles.

A Lot to Think About

In Genesis 19, The Patriarch Lot harbored 2 angels (appearing as men) as his personal guests. Upon seeing two new "men" enter Lot's home, a crowd of immoral men outside demanded that the new visitors be thrust outside, in order to "know" them. Why did Lot, instead, offer his daughters to this cruel mob?

- A. It was another lapse in judgment for the fickle Lot.
- B. He thought they would prefer his daughters
- C. It was an ancient act of hospitality
- D. It was a brilliant, stinging rebuke

There are false churches today that have a blatantly perverted agenda. Among them it is common to hear charges against Lot, as though he was somehow party to the grave social evils in Sodom. Truth be told, Lot's offer to thrust his daughters out was rather like offering pastry to a piranha. Lot knew these sinful men would never take his daughters, and they consequently took his offer as a rebuke. Thus their response: "This one fellow came in to sojourn, and he will needs be a judge: now will we deal worse with thee, than with them." (Gen 19:9b). Answer: D
